

WESTCHESTER COUNTY.

SING SING.
The appropriations for the year having been exhausted the trustees have ordered the suspension of all work on the streets, other than that already contracted for.

At the sale of property in this town for non-payment of taxes, on Tuesday, the Ossining Electric Railway was bought in by the town. The railroad is in arrears of taxes to the amount of $96.11. The property can be redeemed within one year, and if it is not redeemed at the end of that time it may be leased by the town for one hundred years.

WHITE PLAINS.
John Seils, Commissioner of Jurors, will draw an extra panel of 150 petit jurors on Saturday, to serve at the present term of the Supreme Court. This has been made necessary on account of the several murder trials that will come before the court in the latter part of the month.

The Finance Committee of the Board of Village Trustees will meet to-morrow evening to talk over the budget for the coming year.

A horse attached to the vehicle in which Dr. Edward P. Sheehan and Cornelius Dally, delegates to the Democratic County Convention from Sing Sing were riding, took flight at a hand organ, between Tarrytown and White Plains, yesterday afternoon. The animal was thrown off its feet, and the driver and passenger were thrown and injured seriously.

The Grand Jury yesterday found an indictment against a man and dog against Michael McGowan, the life prisoner in the Sing Sing Prison, who set fire to the building at the industry building, at the institution, last week.

PEEKSKILL.

About two hundred and fifty Peekskill people went to Poughkeepsie yesterday and witnessed the parade and tournament of the Poughkeepsie Fire Department. Last evening, on the 8th train south, the Peekskill company—Washington Knickerbocker Company No. 2, which took part in the parade as the guest of Dave Crockett Hook and Ladder Company—returned home, and was met at the station by the entire Peekskill Fire Department. The company was escorted to its quarters after a parade about the town.

The case of the people of Peekskill for the Board of Railroad Commissioners' appeal against the railroad of the Peekskill and Ramapo Railroad, which the Peekskill company has been won by the town.

PORT CHESTER AND RYE.

The Woman's Missionary Society of Christ Church held the fall meeting on its twenty-fifth year on Tuesday. The members were addressed by Archdeacon Kirby and entertained in the parish hall. The gifts for the quarter were $22.00, divided as follows: Runyon Road, $10.00; $2.25, school in Wanchung, China, $4.00; and for general missions, $5.75.

The women of the Hospital Association in Port Chester are arranging for their annual fall sale in aid of that institution, which will be held yesterday at the home of Mrs. Thomas J. Blain, wife of the Editor of "The Port Chester Enterprise," and at the home of William W. Williams, who is in attendance.

John E. Marshall, eighty-three years old, a well-known resident of Port Chester, died at his home in Willetts-ave., on Tuesday. The funeral will be held to-day, Mr. Marshall was engaged in the real estate business for many years, and at the time of his death was second vice-president of the Port Chester Savings Bank and notary public. He was born in Port Chester, N. Y., and was the son of John Marshall, who was a prominent citizen of the town. He was married to Mary Marshall, who died five years ago. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Marshall, and a son, Joseph H. Marshall.

NEW ROCHELLE.

The stated fall meeting of the Westchester Presbytery closed here yesterday. The Presbytery includes forty-four churches in Westchester County and Connecticut, and is composed of sixty-six ministers. The Rev. Francis E. Smith, of the Second Presbyterian Church of this village, was moderator and in addition to the routine business and the examination of candidates for the ministry, there were three addresses by the Rev. George H. Knox, of Rye, the retiring moderator, and by the Rev. George H. Knox, of Rye, the retiring moderator, and by the Rev. George H. Knox, of Rye, the retiring moderator.

THE HUDSON RIVER TUNNEL BLOCKED.

A SUIT TO FORECLOSE ON THE COMPANY'S PROPERTY.

Suit has been brought in the Supreme Court by the Farmers Loan and Trust Company against the Hudson River Tunnel Railway Company to foreclose a first mortgage of $2,000,000 on the company's property, franchises, etc. The trust company, which is a creditor of the tunnel company, claims that the latter is insolvent and unable to pay its outstanding indebtedness, and that the defendant cannot secure the means of paying its debts, and that it is necessary for the protection of the bondholders that the property of the tunnel company be sold without delay.

AGAINST CUTTING THE GERMAN COURSE.

THE GERMAN-AMERICAN REFORM UNION PROTESTS AGAINST THE PENDING RESOLUTION.

A resolution was introduced at a recent meeting of the Board of Education reducing the length of the courses in German and French from two and a half years to two years, and modifying extensively the conditions under which the superintendent is authorized to form classes in these languages. This caused a great deal of complaint, especially among the German parents who have children in the public schools, and also from the teachers who have been employed to teach those languages in the schools. The resolution proposes that in order to have classes in French and German established the mother tongue of at least half the petitioners for the teaching of the language must be different from the language petitioned for. This, the Germans think, would deprive the children of many schools from instruction in German, because in their districts the proportion of Germans is so large that it would be difficult to get 50 per cent of the signers of the necessary petitions whose language was not German.

At the meeting of the Board of Education yesterday no decision was taken on the matter, but it was announced that the Committee on Instruction, which first considered the matter before it passed into the hands of the Committee on By-laws, had somewhat modified its views on the subject, and it was said that the two committees would act in conjunction in considering the subject. The Commissioner indicated in no discussion of the matter, except in this way.

The Board received two communications protesting against the passage of the resolution, which were read and referred to the Committee on By-laws and Legislation. The remonstrances of the German-American Reform Union read as follows:

The undersigned committee, composed of the German-American Reform Union, respectfully asks your honorable body to rescind the action taken by it relative to the teaching of German in the public schools, and urges as reasons the following:

The provision "that the mother tongue of at least one-half of the parents or guardians requesting the introduction of such language shall be different from the language of the majority of the children in the district" is an impossibility in the densely populated districts of the east end of the city, where the German population is so large that it is impossible to get 50 per cent of the signers of the necessary petitions whose language was not German.

The condition that no class shall be formed later than ten days from the receipt of the petition is a hardship on the parents, who are often unable to secure the necessary signatures in time.

The condition that all classes shall expire with the close of each year unless discontinued by the parents is a hardship on the parents, who are often unable to secure the necessary signatures in time.

The condition that the study of German in the public schools shall be discontinued if the number of children in the district who are of German descent is less than 50 per cent of the total population is a hardship on the parents, who are often unable to secure the necessary signatures in time.

The communication was signed by E. H. Amend, Edward J. H. Tamsen, Herman Richter, Jean Weil and J. A. Zibell.

The Taxpayers' Association of the Tenth, Eleventh and Seventeenth wards also presented a similar remonstrance, signed by Henry Fink, president, and John Becker, secretary.

President Charles B. Bunker of the Board of Education, said yesterday that a great deal of misapprehension existed in many minds regarding the purpose of the resolution, and that the study of German was not to be discontinued, but that the purpose was to prevent the waste of money by employing teachers who were not needed or desired. Many complaints had come from Germans themselves, and he said that the purpose of the resolution was to prevent the waste of money by employing teachers who were not needed or desired.

The Board of Education will take no action without mature deliberation.

A hint

for to-morrow morning's breakfast: old-fashioned pop-over's made light and delicious by the use of Royal Baking Powder.

LEGAL INTELLIGENCE.

THE KINGSDRIDGE ROAD FRANCHISE.

The motion on behalf of Leopold Gashal, a taxpayer, for the continuance of a temporary injunction restraining the Board of Aldermen, collectively and individually, from granting to the Port Chester and Ramapo Railroad Company a franchise to lay a road along the Kingsbridge Road, was argued before Justice Smith, in the Supreme Court, yesterday, and decision was reserved. The franchise was granted two years ago to the Titled Avenue Company on payment of $20,000 in cash and an agreement to pay the city 3 per cent of its gross receipts in addition to the regular percentage of 10 per cent for the first three years after the completion of the line and 5 per cent annually thereafter, but this franchise was subsequently held up by the court of appeals on the ground that two extensions had been sold at the same time and in one lot. Efforts to secure a new franchise have been made and would have been successful but for Gashal's injunction.

The case was to have been argued a week ago, but Corporation Counsel Scott declined to oppose the motion on behalf of the Board of Aldermen, and an adjournment was granted. The Port Chester and Ramapo Railroad Company then secured an order from Justice Smith compelling the Board of Aldermen to appear at the hearing on the motion. The Board of Aldermen, however, refused to appear, and the motion was granted. The Board of Aldermen, however, refused to appear, and the motion was granted.

The Board of Aldermen, however, refused to appear, and the motion was granted. The Board of Aldermen, however, refused to appear, and the motion was granted.

The Board of Aldermen, however, refused to appear, and the motion was granted. The Board of Aldermen, however, refused to appear, and the motion was granted.

The Board of Aldermen, however, refused to appear, and the motion was granted. The Board of Aldermen, however, refused to appear, and the motion was granted.

The Board of Aldermen, however, refused to appear, and the motion was granted. The Board of Aldermen, however, refused to appear, and the motion was granted.

The Board of Aldermen, however, refused to appear, and the motion was granted. The Board of Aldermen, however, refused to appear, and the motion was granted.

The Board of Aldermen, however, refused to appear, and the motion was granted. The Board of Aldermen, however, refused to appear, and the motion was granted.

The Board of Aldermen, however, refused to appear, and the motion was granted. The Board of Aldermen, however, refused to appear, and the motion was granted.

The Board of Aldermen, however, refused to appear, and the motion was granted. The Board of Aldermen, however, refused to appear, and the motion was granted.

The Board of Aldermen, however, refused to appear, and the motion was granted. The Board of Aldermen, however, refused to appear, and the motion was granted.

The Board of Aldermen, however, refused to appear, and the motion was granted. The Board of Aldermen, however, refused to appear, and the motion was granted.

The Board of Aldermen, however, refused to appear, and the motion was granted. The Board of Aldermen, however, refused to appear, and the motion was granted.

The Board of Aldermen, however, refused to appear, and the motion was granted. The Board of Aldermen, however, refused to appear, and the motion was granted.

The Board of Aldermen, however, refused to appear, and the motion was granted. The Board of Aldermen, however, refused to appear, and the motion was granted.

The Board of Aldermen, however, refused to appear, and the motion was granted. The Board of Aldermen, however, refused to appear, and the motion was granted.

The Board of Aldermen, however, refused to appear, and the motion was granted. The Board of Aldermen, however, refused to appear, and the motion was granted.

The Board of Aldermen, however, refused to appear, and the motion was granted. The Board of Aldermen, however, refused to appear, and the motion was granted.

The Board of Aldermen, however, refused to appear, and the motion was granted. The Board of Aldermen, however, refused to appear, and the motion was granted.

The Board of Aldermen, however, refused to appear, and the motion was granted. The Board of Aldermen, however, refused to appear, and the motion was granted.

The Board of Aldermen, however, refused to appear, and the motion was granted. The Board of Aldermen, however, refused to appear, and the motion was granted.

The Board of Aldermen, however, refused to appear, and the motion was granted. The Board of Aldermen, however, refused to appear, and the motion was granted.

The Board of Aldermen, however, refused to appear, and the motion was granted. The Board of Aldermen, however, refused to appear, and the motion was granted.

The Board of Aldermen, however, refused to appear, and the motion was granted. The Board of Aldermen, however, refused to appear, and the motion was granted.

The Board of Aldermen, however, refused to appear, and the motion was granted. The Board of Aldermen, however, refused to appear, and the motion was granted.

The Board of Aldermen, however, refused to appear, and the motion was granted. The Board of Aldermen, however, refused to appear, and the motion was granted.

The Board of Aldermen, however, refused to appear, and the motion was granted. The Board of Aldermen, however, refused to appear, and the motion was granted.

The Board of Aldermen, however, refused to appear, and the motion was granted. The Board of Aldermen, however, refused to appear, and the motion was granted.

The Board of Aldermen, however, refused to appear, and the motion was granted. The Board of Aldermen, however, refused to appear, and the motion was granted.

B. J. Mann & Co.

(THIRD FLOOR.)

AUTUMN

TRIMMED MILLINERY

INCLUDING

PARIS HATS, TOQUES AND BONNETS.

NINETEENTH ST. & SIXTH AVE.

NO BLAME FOR PIERCE.

MANAGEMENT OF THE WESTCHESTER

TEMPORARY HOME COMMENDED.

AN EXTENDED REPORT FILED BY THE REFEREE,

IN WHICH ALLEGATIONS OF CHURCH AND

WOMANLY TREATMENT OF THE CHILD

WERE DECLARED TO BE FALSE.

The decision of Daniel W. Guernsey, referee in the investigation of the Westchester Temporary Home for Indigent Children and its superintendent, James W. Pierce, was filed in the County Clerk's office in White Plains yesterday. The case has excited widespread interest, and has been before Judge Guernsey for nearly two years. The superintendent of the institution was charged with cruelty toward the inmates. The case of the mother of the child who was the subject of the investigation was also before the referee. The mother was charged with neglecting the child, and with allowing the child to be in the hands of the superintendent. The referee found in favor of the superintendent, and declared the allegations of church and womanly treatment of the child to be false.

The decision of Daniel W. Guernsey, referee in the investigation of the Westchester Temporary Home for Indigent Children and its superintendent, James W. Pierce, was filed in the County Clerk's office in White Plains yesterday. The case has excited widespread interest, and has been before Judge Guernsey for nearly two years. The superintendent of the institution was charged with cruelty toward the inmates. The case of the mother of the child who was the subject of the investigation was also before the referee. The mother was charged with neglecting the child, and with allowing the child to be in the hands of the superintendent. The referee found in favor of the superintendent, and declared the allegations of church and womanly treatment of the child to be false.

The decision of Daniel W. Guernsey, referee in the investigation of the Westchester Temporary Home for Indigent Children and its superintendent, James W. Pierce, was filed in the County Clerk's office in White Plains yesterday. The case has excited widespread interest, and has been before Judge Guernsey for nearly two years. The superintendent of the institution was charged with cruelty toward the inmates. The case of the mother of the child who was the subject of the investigation was also before the referee. The mother was charged with neglecting the child, and with allowing the child to be in the hands of the superintendent. The referee found in favor of the superintendent, and declared the allegations of church and womanly treatment of the child to be false.

The decision of Daniel W. Guernsey, referee in the investigation of the Westchester Temporary Home for Indigent Children and its superintendent, James W. Pierce, was filed in the County Clerk's office in White Plains yesterday. The case has excited widespread interest, and has been before Judge Guernsey for nearly two years. The superintendent of the institution was charged with cruelty toward the inmates. The case of the mother of the child who was the subject of the investigation was also before the referee. The mother was charged with neglecting the child, and with allowing the child to be in the hands of the superintendent. The referee found in favor of the superintendent, and declared the allegations of church and womanly treatment of the child to be false.

The decision of Daniel W. Guernsey, referee in the investigation of the Westchester Temporary Home for Indigent Children and its superintendent, James W. Pierce, was filed in the County Clerk's office in White Plains yesterday. The case has excited widespread interest, and has been before Judge Guernsey for nearly two years. The superintendent of the institution was charged with cruelty toward the inmates. The case of the mother of the child who was the subject of the investigation was also before the referee. The mother was charged with neglecting the child, and with allowing the child to be in the hands of the superintendent. The referee found in favor of the superintendent, and declared the allegations of church and womanly treatment of the child to be false.

The decision of Daniel W. Guernsey, referee in the investigation of the Westchester Temporary Home for Indigent Children and its superintendent, James W. Pierce, was filed in the County Clerk's office in White Plains yesterday. The case has excited widespread interest, and has been before Judge Guernsey for nearly two years. The superintendent of the institution was charged with cruelty toward the inmates. The case of the mother of the child who was the subject of the investigation was also before the referee. The mother was charged with neglecting the child, and with allowing the child to be in the hands of the superintendent. The referee found in favor of the superintendent, and declared the allegations of church and womanly treatment of the child to be false.

The decision of Daniel W. Guernsey, referee in the investigation of the Westchester Temporary Home for Indigent Children and its superintendent, James W. Pierce, was filed in the County Clerk's office in White Plains yesterday. The case has excited widespread interest, and has been before Judge Guernsey for nearly two years. The superintendent of the institution was charged with cruelty toward the inmates. The case of the mother of the child who was the subject of the investigation was also before the referee. The mother was charged with neglecting the child, and with allowing the child to be in the hands of the superintendent. The referee found in favor of the superintendent, and declared the allegations of church and womanly treatment of the child to be false.

The decision of Daniel W. Guernsey, referee in the investigation of the Westchester Temporary Home for Indigent Children and its superintendent, James W. Pierce, was filed in the County Clerk's office in White Plains yesterday. The case has excited widespread interest, and has been before Judge Guernsey for nearly two years. The superintendent of the institution was charged with cruelty toward the inmates. The case of the mother of the child who was the subject of the investigation was also before the referee. The mother was charged with neglecting the child, and with allowing the child to be in the hands of the superintendent. The referee found in favor of the superintendent, and declared the allegations of church and womanly treatment of the child to be false.

The decision of Daniel W. Guernsey, referee in the investigation of the Westchester Temporary Home for Indigent Children and its superintendent, James W. Pierce, was filed in the County Clerk's office in White Plains yesterday. The case has excited widespread interest, and has been before Judge Guernsey for nearly two years. The superintendent of the institution was charged with cruelty toward the inmates. The case of the mother of the child who was the subject of the investigation was also before the referee. The mother was charged with neglecting the child, and with allowing the child to be in the hands of the superintendent. The referee found in favor of the superintendent, and declared the allegations of church and womanly treatment of the child to be false.

The decision of Daniel W. Guernsey, referee in the investigation of the Westchester Temporary Home for Indigent Children and its superintendent, James W. Pierce, was filed in the County Clerk's office in White Plains yesterday. The case has excited widespread interest, and has been before Judge Guernsey for nearly two years. The superintendent of the institution was charged with cruelty toward the inmates. The case of the mother of the child who was the subject of the investigation was also before the referee. The mother was charged with neglecting the child, and with allowing the child to be in the hands of the superintendent. The referee found in favor of the superintendent, and declared the allegations of church and womanly treatment of the child to be false.

The decision of Daniel W. Guernsey, referee in the investigation of the Westchester Temporary Home for Indigent Children and its superintendent, James W. Pierce, was filed in the County Clerk's office in White Plains yesterday. The case has excited widespread interest, and has been before Judge Guernsey for nearly two years. The superintendent of the institution was charged with cruelty toward the inmates. The case of the mother of the child who was the subject of the investigation was also before the referee. The mother was charged with neglecting the child, and with allowing the child to be in the hands of the superintendent. The referee found in favor of the superintendent, and declared the allegations of church and womanly treatment of the child to be false.

The decision of Daniel W. Guernsey, referee in the investigation of the Westchester Temporary Home for Indigent Children and its superintendent, James W. Pierce, was filed in the County Clerk's office in White Plains yesterday. The case has excited widespread interest, and has been before Judge Guernsey for nearly two years. The superintendent of the institution was charged with cruelty toward the inmates. The case of the mother of the child who was the subject of the investigation was also before the referee. The mother was charged with neglecting the child, and with allowing the child to be in the hands of the superintendent. The referee found in favor of the superintendent, and declared the allegations of church and womanly treatment of the child to be false.

The decision of Daniel W. Guernsey, referee in the investigation of the Westchester Temporary Home for Indigent Children and its superintendent, James W. Pierce, was filed in the County Clerk's office in White Plains yesterday. The case has excited widespread interest, and has been before Judge Guernsey for nearly two years. The superintendent of the institution was charged with cruelty toward the inmates. The case of the mother of the child who was the subject of the investigation was also before the referee. The mother was charged with neglecting the child, and with allowing the child to be in the hands of the superintendent. The referee found in favor of the superintendent, and declared the allegations of church and womanly treatment of the child to be false.

The decision of Daniel W. Guernsey, referee in the investigation of the Westchester Temporary Home for Indigent Children and its superintendent, James W. Pierce, was filed in the County Clerk's office in White Plains yesterday. The case has excited widespread interest, and has been before Judge Guernsey for nearly two years. The superintendent of the institution was charged with cruelty toward the inmates. The case of the mother of the child who was the subject of the investigation was also before the referee. The mother was charged with neglecting the child, and with allowing the child to be in the hands of the superintendent. The referee found in favor of the superintendent, and declared the allegations of church and womanly treatment of the child to be false.

The decision of Daniel W. Guernsey, referee in the investigation of the Westchester Temporary Home for Indigent Children and its superintendent, James W. Pierce, was filed in the County Clerk's office in White Plains yesterday. The case has excited widespread interest, and has been before Judge Guernsey for nearly two years. The superintendent of the institution was charged with cruelty toward the inmates. The case of the mother of the child who was the subject of the investigation was also before the referee. The mother was charged with neglecting the child, and with allowing the child to be in the hands of the superintendent. The referee found in favor of the superintendent, and declared the allegations of church and womanly treatment of the child to be false.

The decision of Daniel W. Guernsey, referee in the investigation of the Westchester Temporary Home for Indigent Children and its superintendent, James W. Pierce, was filed in the County Clerk's office in White Plains yesterday. The case has excited widespread interest, and has been before Judge Guernsey for nearly two years. The superintendent of the institution was charged with cruelty toward the inmates. The case of the mother of the child who was the subject of the investigation was also before the referee. The mother was charged with neglecting the child, and with allowing the child to be in the hands of the superintendent. The referee found in favor of the superintendent, and declared the allegations of church and womanly treatment of the child to be false.

The decision of Daniel W. Guernsey, referee in the investigation of the Westchester Temporary Home for Indigent Children and its superintendent, James W. Pierce, was filed in the County Clerk's office in White Plains yesterday. The case has excited widespread interest, and has been before Judge Guernsey for nearly two years. The superintendent of the institution was charged with cruelty toward the inmates. The case of the mother of the child who was the subject of the investigation was also before the referee. The mother was charged with neglecting the child, and with allowing the child to be in the hands of the superintendent. The referee found in favor of the superintendent, and declared the allegations of church and womanly treatment of the child to be false.

The decision of Daniel W. Guernsey, referee in the investigation of the Westchester Temporary Home for Indigent Children and its superintendent, James W. Pierce, was filed in the County Clerk's office in White Plains yesterday. The case has excited widespread interest, and has been before Judge Guernsey for nearly two years. The superintendent of the institution was charged with cruelty toward the inmates. The case of the mother of the child who was the subject of the investigation was also before the referee. The mother was charged with neglecting the child, and with allowing the child to be in the hands of the superintendent. The referee found in favor of the superintendent, and declared the allegations of church and womanly treatment of the child to be false.

The decision of Daniel W. Guernsey, referee in the investigation of the Westchester Temporary Home for Indigent Children and its superintendent, James W. Pierce, was filed in the County Clerk's office in White Plains yesterday. The case has excited widespread interest, and has been before Judge Guernsey for nearly two years. The superintendent of the institution was charged with cruelty toward the inmates. The case of the mother of the child who was the subject of the investigation was also before the referee. The mother was charged with neglecting the child, and with allowing the child to be in the hands of the superintendent. The referee found in favor of the superintendent, and declared the allegations of church and womanly treatment of the child to be false.

The decision of Daniel W. Guernsey, referee in the investigation of the Westchester Temporary Home for Indigent Children and its superintendent, James W. Pierce, was filed in the County Clerk's office in White Plains yesterday. The case has excited widespread interest, and has been before Judge Guernsey for nearly two years. The superintendent of the institution was charged with cruelty toward the inmates. The case of the mother of the child who was the subject of the investigation was also before the referee. The mother was charged with neglecting the child, and with allowing the child to be in the hands of the superintendent. The referee found in favor of the superintendent, and declared the allegations of church and womanly treatment of the child to be false.

The decision of Daniel W. Guernsey, referee in the investigation of the Westchester Temporary Home for Indigent Children and its superintendent, James W. Pierce, was filed in the County Clerk's office in White Plains yesterday. The case has excited widespread interest, and has been before Judge Guernsey for nearly two years. The superintendent of the institution was charged with cruelty toward the inmates. The case of the mother of the child who was the subject of the investigation was also before the referee. The mother was charged with neglecting the child, and with allowing the child to be in the hands of the superintendent. The referee found in favor of the superintendent, and declared the allegations of church and womanly treatment of the child to be false.

The decision of Daniel W. Guernsey, referee in the investigation of the Westchester Temporary Home for Indigent Children and its superintendent, James W. Pierce, was filed in the County Clerk's office in White Plains yesterday. The case has excited widespread interest, and has been before Judge Guernsey for nearly two years. The superintendent of the institution was charged with cruelty toward the inmates. The case of the mother of the child who was the subject of the investigation was also before the referee. The mother was charged with neglecting the child, and with allowing the child to be in the hands of the superintendent. The referee found in favor of the superintendent, and declared the allegations of church and womanly treatment of the child to be false.

The decision of Daniel W. Guernsey, referee in the investigation of the Westchester Temporary Home for Indigent Children and its superintendent, James W. Pierce, was filed in the County Clerk's office in White Plains yesterday. The case has excited widespread interest, and has been before Judge Guernsey for nearly two years. The superintendent of the institution was charged with cruelty toward the inmates. The case of the mother of the child who was the subject of the investigation was also before the referee. The mother was charged with neglecting the child, and with allowing the child to be in the hands of the superintendent. The referee found in favor of the superintendent, and declared the allegations of church and womanly treatment of the child to be false.

The decision of Daniel W. Guernsey, referee in the investigation of the Westchester Temporary Home for Indigent Children and its superintendent, James W. Pierce, was filed in the County Clerk's office in White Plains yesterday. The case has excited widespread interest, and has been before Judge Guernsey for nearly two years. The superintendent of the institution was charged with cruelty toward the inmates. The case of the mother of the child who was the subject of the investigation was also before the referee. The mother was charged with neglecting the child, and with allowing the child to be in the hands of the superintendent. The referee found in favor of the superintendent, and declared the allegations of church and womanly treatment of the child to be false.

The decision of Daniel W. Guernsey, referee in the investigation of the Westchester Temporary Home for Indigent Children and its superintendent, James W. Pierce, was filed in the County Clerk's office in White Plains yesterday. The case has excited widespread interest, and has been before Judge Guernsey for nearly two years. The superintendent of the institution was charged with cruelty toward the inmates. The case of the mother of the child who was the subject of the investigation was also before the referee. The mother was charged with neglecting the child, and with allowing the child to be in the hands of the superintendent. The referee found in favor of the superintendent, and declared the allegations of church and womanly treatment of the child to be false.

The decision of Daniel W. Guernsey, referee in the investigation of the Westchester Temporary Home for Indigent Children and its superintendent, James W. Pierce, was filed in the County Clerk's office in White Plains yesterday. The case has excited widespread interest, and has been before Judge Guernsey for nearly two years. The superintendent of the institution was charged with cruelty toward the inmates. The case of the mother of the child who was the subject of the investigation was also before the referee. The mother was charged with neglecting the child, and with allowing the child to be in the hands of the superintendent. The referee found in favor of the superintendent, and declared the allegations of church and womanly treatment of the child to be false.

The decision of Daniel W. Guernsey, referee in the investigation of the Westchester Temporary Home for Indigent Children and its superintendent, James W. Pierce, was filed in the County Clerk's office in White Plains yesterday. The case has excited widespread interest, and has been before Judge Guernsey for nearly two years. The superintendent of the institution was charged with cruelty toward the inmates. The case of the mother of the child who was the subject of the investigation was also before the referee. The mother was charged with neglecting the child, and with allowing the child to be in the hands of the superintendent. The referee found in favor of the superintendent, and declared the allegations of church and womanly treatment of the child to be false.

Yellowish-brown is the accepted Fall overcoat color; but what is too yellow for one is often too brown for another.

As many shades here as there are tastes—blacks of course; $12 to $30.

Because some are prejudiced against clothing-store shoes, we sell 'em cheaper than shoe stores; guarantee them besides.

If your boy has been wearing ordinary clothes suppose you try a different sort—our sort.

A book on how to dress, sent if you write for it.

ROGERS, PEET & Co.
Variety and Broadway.
Twenty-second and Broadway.

HOME NEWS.

PROMINENT ARRIVALS AT THE HOTELS.
BREVOR, EX-ATTORNEY-General John P. Stockton, of New Jersey, arrived at the Hamilton Hotel, New York, yesterday. He is on his way to New York to attend the annual meeting of the American Bar Association.

MAN, CHIEF-CLERK of the New York State Department of Education, arrived at the Hamilton Hotel, New York, yesterday. He is on his way to New York to attend the annual meeting of the American Bar Association.

MAN, CHIEF-CLERK of the New York State Department of Education, arrived at the Hamilton Hotel, New York, yesterday. He is on his way to New York to attend the annual meeting of the American Bar Association.

MAN, CHIEF-CLERK of the New York State Department of Education, arrived at the Hamilton Hotel, New York, yesterday. He is on his way to New York to attend the annual meeting of the American Bar Association.

MAN, CHIEF-CLERK of the New York State Department of Education, arrived at the Hamilton Hotel, New York, yesterday. He is on his way to New York to attend the annual meeting of the American Bar Association.

MAN, CHIEF-CLERK of the New York State Department of Education, arrived at the Hamilton Hotel, New York, yesterday. He is on his way to New York to attend the annual meeting of the American Bar Association.

MAN, CHIEF-CLERK of the New York State Department of Education, arrived at the Hamilton Hotel, New York, yesterday. He is on his way to New York to attend the annual meeting of the American Bar Association.

MAN, CHIEF-CLERK of the New York State Department of Education, arrived at the Hamilton Hotel, New York, yesterday. He is on his way to New York to attend the annual meeting of the American Bar Association.

MAN, CHIEF-CLERK of the New York State Department of Education, arrived at the Hamilton Hotel, New York, yesterday. He is on his way to New York to attend the annual meeting of the American Bar Association.

MAN, CHIEF-CLERK of the New York State Department of Education, arrived at the Hamilton Hotel, New York, yesterday. He is on his way to New York to attend the annual meeting of the American Bar Association.

MAN, CHIEF-CLERK of the New York State Department of Education, arrived at the Hamilton Hotel, New York, yesterday. He is on his way to New York to attend the annual meeting of the American Bar Association.

MAN, CHIEF-CLERK of the New York State Department of Education, arrived at the Hamilton Hotel, New York, yesterday. He is on his way to New York to attend the annual meeting of the American Bar Association.

MAN, CHIEF-CLERK of the New York State Department of Education, arrived at the Hamilton Hotel, New York, yesterday. He is on his way to New York to attend the annual meeting of the American Bar Association.

MAN, CHIEF-CLERK of the New York State Department of Education, arrived at the Hamilton Hotel, New York, yesterday. He is on his way to New York to attend the annual meeting of the American Bar Association.

MAN, CHIEF-CLERK of the New York State Department of Education, arrived at the Hamilton Hotel, New York, yesterday. He is on his way to New York to attend the annual meeting of the American Bar Association.